JAPAN PREPARING FOR ANOTHER RUSSIAN WAR WON'T FIGHT UNCLE SAM

NAVAL MOVE IS A MISTAKE JUST NOW

SO SAYS DR. SHEGATARO MORIKUBO TODAY

JAPAN IN NO WAY TO FIGHT

Local Chiropractor Blames Sensational Newspapers and Gives Version of the Present War Scare

"Japan will not engage in a war with the United States unless it is necessary to protect its own country." This statement was made to a Tribune representative by Shegataro Morikubo, the young Japanese doctor who has offices in the McMillan building. Dr. Morikubo has been studying the conditions of the trouble between the two countries ever since it started, and knowing the Japanese as he does and also the American public after several years of experience in this country, believes that all the talk about war is a myth.

"If my judgment amounts to anything there will be no war," he says. "The Japanese people are intelligent enough to know that war with the United States means much. They realize that their resources are not great enough to cope with that of the United States; that even if they should be able to maintain supremacy."

M'MILLAN SUIT NOT YET ENDED

The case against the trustees of the McMillan estate instituted by S. D. McMillan, a son, was heard in circuit court yesterday morning. Most of the forenoon was taken up with the taking of the evidence in the case.

The arguments were put over until the return of Judge Fruit from Virroqua when the case will in all probability be ended.

Yesterday afternoon and this morning Judge Fruit was busy hearing the case of the Eau Claire Grocery company the complaint having been made by C. H. Hilliard. The following jury was empaneled to try the case:

Lars A. Jostad, Oscar Larson, John Hatz, Adolph Spangler, Manly Olson, G. P. Marvin, Walter C. Strout, W. W. West, Henry Genski, Martin Diefenthaler, John L. Uttermoehl and H. E. Toffman.

MAYOR TO PREPARE FOR CONVENTION

Active preparations are being made for the annual meeting of the Municipal League of Wisconsin which will be held in La Crosse this year, the dates being Aug. 14, 15 and 16. Mayor W. A. Anderson will appoint a committee from the council in a day or so to meet and make arrangements.

The convention of the league is always a large one, executives from most every city in the state attending. La Crosse will endeavor to make the sessions a success and ample entertainment will be provided for the visitors.

NEW LAUNCH FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

A new $700 launch is being built by John O'Neill of this city for the Y. M. C. A. The boat is now in the course of completion and will be placed in the water some time this month. It will be 25 feet in length with a 6 foot beam. The engine will be a 10 horse power, four cycle Trustcott, capable of propelling the boat at a good rate of speed.

The boat is being built for the use of the members and to carry campers to and from the Y. M. C. A. camp. The house boat for the launch is already built. The new boat will be in the La Crosse Motor Boat club.

SHERIFF ATTENDS BIG CONVENTION

The Inter-State Sheriff's convention will hold a three day convention in Milwaukee starting today.

They will discuss everything at the convention from bolt and bars to the fine points of criminology. One of the most important papers is to be read by Sheriff William R. Knell of Milwaukee county.

Sheriff Chris Burns of this county, left this morning to attend the convention.

Red Wing Marine Racer Is Ready for a Race With Any Aspirants Says La Crosse Owner

The La Crosse Tribune in a labored effort attempts to make out that the race at Wabasha on the Fourth of July in which the Winona boat Chief of Record came out ahead was a demonstration of the fact that the Red Wing boat, which came in second, is the fastest on the river. A boat that is beaten in a fair and square race can hardly substantiate such a claim.—Winona Republican-Herald.

Eugene P. Gleason, owner of the "Skip," the Red Wing marine flyer, which has been making picnic parties all along the river "sit up" on the banks and take notice as she speeds along, when shown the foregoing today, instantly issued a challenge to race the Winona boat "Chief of Record" and any other boat on the river for a satisfactory purse.

The race at Wabasha July 4, the story of which was related in The Tribune of July 5, called forth the comment from the Winona Republican-Herald. As then stated, failure of the multiple-oiler of the "Skip" to operate permitted the wrist bearing in the base of the back cylinder to run dry and the bearing locked dead in the middle of the race. A delay of

TWAIN STILL SILENT

HUMORIST WON'T TALK ON CUP THEFT

Issues Statement to Defend Self From Writers

LONDON, July 9.—The final week of Mark Twain's stay in England is filled with appointments. On Saturday evening he will dine with the staff of Punch.

The joke about Mark "lifting" the Ascot cup has become such a habit here that when the story of the mysterious theft of the Irish regalia became known letters and telegrams poured into Brown's hotel asking Mark what he had done with the jewels and how he had managed to secure them.

In self-defense tonight he issued the following: "Mark Twain has received a number of telegrams and letters from friends and strangers asking what he knows of the whereabouts of the Irish regalia. He has not replied to these inquiries because he has been advised by his lawyers it is best he should not commit himself."

JUDGE LURES AND SHOOT HIS VICTIM

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—Richard B. Haughton, an attorney, former justice of the peace and founder of the Jefferson club, the dominant democratic organization, shot and dangerously wounded John W. Berry, an airship inventor and proprietor of a garage. Haughton fired two shots at Berry in an alley, where, it is said, his victim had been lured.

The shooting followed Berry's refusal to sign a statement Haughton had prepared addressed to Haughton and containing an apology and confession of attempts to defraud him.

EXECUTIVE BOOSTER COMMITTEE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC FOR SUCCESS OF CAMPAIGN

BELIEVE MOVE IS TO BEGIN GROWTH

OPTIMISTIC ATTITUDE OF THE WORKERS IS INSPIRING

FOR SPLENDID ACHIEVEMENT

Thought of Leading Committee Reflects Buoyant Sentiment of the People of La Crosse

THEY'RE ALL OVER TOWN

All day painters have been busy painting BOOSTER signs on the sidewalks of La Crosse. "Boost La Crosse." These are being put down in front of mercantile and business establishments all over the city. The name of the business man or merchant comes first, in red. Then comes the BOOSTER slogan in yellow. The executive committee has not authorized the plan, and it is said to be merely an outburst of enthusiasm for the movement, coupled with the enterprise of private painters. It looks as though they were going to paint the town red (and yellow) with BOOSTER slogans.

The La Crosse "Booster" button campaign is waxing warm and every one is enthusiastic.

Frank W. Sisson of the Bryant-Sisson company, when asked about the future prospects of the campaign this morning, said: "We can't lose out on it. In an affair of this kind where everyone lends their assistance success alone can be the result. Everyone is interested in the outcome of the campaign and when people are interested in anything they are bound to lend their support, and when the general multitude lend their support the project is always a tremendous success."

H. H. Long, advertising manager of the John Gund Brewing company, said:

"It is laying the foundation of one of the largest campaigns in the history of La Crosse, and is bound to assist in the upbuilding of the city."

"I think that the button will be a piece of advertising which will create and arouse a great deal of enthusiasm among our citizens, and which will ultimately result in securing a fund with which we can give our city the proper publicity through the press, which is, by far, the greatest advertising agent known. It is, at any rate, bound to attract wide attention."

William Doerflinger, of the Park store, says:

"It is bound to be a howling success. Everyone is interested and is anxious to know what is being done and to do their mite to assist in the campaign and make it a success. The newspapers should keep it alive and before the people until the final picnic which is certain to arouse the proper spirit of citizenship in every resident of La Crosse attending."

Mr. W. E. Barber, chairman of the "program and grounds" committee, reports that all are very enthusiastic and that the campaign is coming on fine.

The other members of the committee are J. M. Holley of the State bank, C. S. Van Auker and E. G. Boynton. They are meeting at the office of Mr. Barber in the McMillan building, this afternoon.

"Freddy, you shouldn't laugh out loud in the schoolroom," exclaimed the teacher. "I didn't mean to do it," apologized Freddy. "I was smiling, when all of a sudden the smile busted."

LA CROSSE IS GIVEN SPECIAL INVITATION TO PRESTON FAIR

WON'T PROSECUTE CLEMENTS FURTHER

PRESTON SHERIFF DENIES HE HAS A NEW WARRANT

ENMITY HAS DIED OFF NOW

At Time of Conviction Farmers Who Suffered Loss Swore They Would Continue Prosecution.

Sheriff Blexrud of Preston, Fillmore county, where was located the bank for juggling the funds of which Joseph R. Clements has just completed seven years imprisonment at Stillwater, today denied over the long distance phone, a report that he had a new warrant for Clements and was preparing to arrest him on other indictments.

This report reached the city from St. Paul, to which point the former banker went after being released from prison, to join his family.

At the time of the former bankers' conviction, the feeling against him in Fillmore county was extremely bitter, and farmers and court officials declared that when he was released he would find the sheriff waiting for him with a new warrant, as several other indictments were believed possible under the conditions.

Now, however, it is learned that this feeling of enmity has died out to a large degree, and in the opinion of Sheriff Blexrud, it is improbable that any further prosecution will be attempted.

Clements was convicted of taking funds upon deposit when he knew the Preston bank was insolvent. His wife and daughter, for a long time residents of La Crosse now reside in St. Paul.

WHIRLED ALOFT IN CYCLONE, CONVERSE

Knute Tempte, North Side Grocer, Tells of Storm

Hurled aloft with the fragments of their summer kitchen in which they were working, by the cyclone which a few days ago swept over the western part of the state, and screaming back and forth to each other as they whirled over the tree tops was the harrowing experience of Mrs. H. Gullickson and her daughter Amelia, living near Oakdale. The mother was instantly killed in the fall to the ground, and the daughter was severely injured. She is recovering, however, and relates the strange experience. The girl had two ribs broken.

This is one of the many incidents of the terrific storm, related by Mr. Knute Tempte, the Caledonia street grocer, who returned yesterday from the storm region between Tomah, Oakdale, New Lisbon and Elroy.

The storm created much more serious havoc than has been reported and five people instead of two as was reported, were killed.

Mr. Tempte spent several days with

MADISON, Wis., July 9.—(Special).—By a vote of 24 to 0 the senate this morning confirmed the appointment made by Governor Davidson of Judge Ray S. Reid of La Crosse as water commissioner for a term of three years, and C. E. Buell of Madison as member of the civil service board to expire in 1913.

The assembly passed a resolution to investigate the capitol park plan. Over 100 small bills were passed upon by the assembly.

STEALS STOLEN CASH

STIFEL SAYS BEDFORD EXHUMED THE $5.00

Both Will Be Taken Into Court to Answer

Charles "Boots" Stifel and Charles Bedford, mounds, who have been employed on the north side, are held at the central police station. Stifel charged with stealing $5.00 from his room mate, Joe Soukup, and Bedford charged with securing the money after Stifel had buried it. Stifel this morning confessed to taking the money, but Bedford steadily maintains that he did not secure the buried treasure.

Stifel and Soukup romped together at the Goddard hotel on the North side. After drinking together Sunday night they retired. In the morning Soukup arose to discover that $5.00 of his money was missing and that his room mate had also disappeared.

He entered a complaint with the police and yesterday morning Stifel was picked up by Officer Yeable. When placed in the "sweat box" he said that he had taken the money and buried it near the foundry on the north side, but had told Bedford of where it was. Bedford was arrested but claims he did not take it. Stifel, in company with two detectives went to the north side and started to dig for the money. He could not find it and stated that Bedford had been there ahead of him. Both men will be taken into court this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

RUSS REVOLUTIONISTS TAKE VENGEANCE

RIGA, Russia, July 9.—A revolutionist named Sprague, who betrayed his conspiring comrades in an old flour mill, was terribly tortured after the police had raided the mill, killing thirty revolutionists and capturing many. Sprague was taken to the mill and tied to the floor. A sack with a small hole was then tied around his head and flour was poured through the hole until Sprague was smothered to death.

STERLING CASE IS ADJOURNED AGAIN

After the jurors had arrived, the judge was on his bench, and the defendant ready to stand trial, the case of the city against C. A. Sterling of the Law hotel, charged with conducting a wine room in open violation of the city ordinances, was continued until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock before Judge C. W. Hunt in police court. C. L. Hood, attorney for the defendant, failed to put in an appearance. The case has now been adjourned three times.

FAIRBANKS SAVES A FAIR WOMAN BATHER

YELLOWSTONE LAKE, Yellowstone Park, Wyo., July 9.—Vice President Fairbanks risked his life here yesterday afternoon to save a girl from drowning. Two men stood "scared stiff" on the shore and two women in a boat failed to offer aid. Fairbanks ran from the hotel veranda and swam to the rescue. The girl was Miss Lena Waters, a waitress in the hotel. She had served Mr. Fairbanks' luncheon, and had done it so well that the vice president had complimented Mr. Gibbs on the efficiency of his help.

AMERICAN SECRET AGENTS WARN U. S.

MIKADO ACCUSED OF PLAN TO STRIKE COVERT BLOW

RUSS DEE-LIGHTED-U.S. ALERT

Coast Defenses Are Rushed and Insular Harbors Will Be Mined on Short Notice

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—A new and startling explanation for sending the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific is that secret agents of the United States government in Japan have sent sensational information to this country that Japan is active in certain directions. The Mikado is said to be planning a coup, in spite of all assurances to the contrary.

Rush Insular Defenses

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—Steps are being taken to strengthen the defenses of the Philippines as a safeguard against possible sudden attack by any hostile power. The war department is fitting out a special expedition which will sail from San Francisco on July 25 with a large supply of mines and submarine torpedoes, which will be made ready for immediate planting at Manila and Subig bay.

The joint army and navy board has concluded that the submarine defenses of the Atlantic coast backed up by the coast artillery would provide ample protection and that every harbor on the coast of the United States, save Galveston, could be thoroughly mined in forty-eight hours. Attention was then given to the Philippines where the $1,234,000 provided by the last congress will be promptly used.

Of this sum congress gave $205,000 for submarine defenses in the insular possessions, the money becoming available on July 1. It has been determined to use practically all the money in fortifying the waters of the Philippines.

The army strategists are locked in a fierce struggle over whether Manila or Subig bay shall be more strongly fortified. General Wood has denounced the proposition to protect Subig bay at expense of Cavite. The joint board, however, believes that Subig bay is the more important strategic point and it is the place that, according to present plans, will be given main attention. Some of the army officers believe that in the event of war Cavite and Manila should be abandoned.

Russians Hope for Worst

ST. PETERSBURG, July 9.—The Novoe Vremya expresses delight over the present state of relations between Japan and the United States and says it hopes for the worst. The paper asserts that the controversy over minor happenings in California is "a mere blind," that Japan is ambitious to control the trade of the Pacific by the quasi-open door and that she is representing herself as being the injured side.

THE DOPE BOX

Well, Freeport lost also, so no matter.

It may be that Letcher's boast that he will be in at the finish is not idle. His team has been strengthened and is now playing some ball. But also take a look at the way Oshkosh and Green Bay are cutting up capers.

Eddie Konetchy failed to get a hit in the game at New York yesterday in which St. Louis shut out the Giants. Eddie secured a sacrifice though and had eight chances at first without an error.

The captain of the Chicago Cubs took an awful chance of getting hurt at Brooklyn yesterday when he started to play catch with the mob with pop bottles.

The first three games away from home for the champs has not brought Freeport any closer to the top. Freeport lost two out of three to Green Bay while the champs did the same to Fond du Lac.

"Pap" Gwynn, the released third baseman of Freeport is playing a strong game with Fond du Lac, fielding fast and hitting hard.

Lajoie of Cleveland did not make good his assertion that he would catch the White Sox by July. He is still two or three laps behind.

Today the champs are up against a strong proposition, meeting Wausau. Wausau just got through taking three straight from Eau Claire and is in great fighting trim.

ST. PAUL'S CLAIM IS NOT GOOD

Baseball Commission Decides That the Former Champ Belongs to St. Louis.

St. Paul's claim to Eddie Konetchy the former champ now with St. Louis is not valid. The national baseball commission has decided that St. Paul has no distinct claim to the first baseman and that he belongs to the Cardinals. St. Paul protested the sale of Konetchy, setting up that they had first claim on him by reason of agreeing on a price made by the La Crosse association.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 9.—Fond du Lac has taken a brace. Yesterday the La Crosse champs were beaten again by the tail enders by the score of 6 to 2, and the victory was well earned beyond a doubt. The usually strong Frank Baillies was touched up in lively fashion by Letcher's rejuvenated crowd, ten clean hits being made off the deceiving one's delivery, and they were not all singles. Crangle coming in for another home run while three two baggers were annexed. The champs secured four hits off Koons and made them count for two runs. Fond du Lac started in the third and from then on continued to pound out the counts. The score:

THE LONG ENDURANCE CONTEST

Twenty-two motorcyclists left Los Angeles on June 30, to undertake a 1,000 mile endurance run to San Francisco and return. The riders left in pairs with five minutes between the couples, and will endeavor to preserve their formation throughout the run. It is expected that the contest will finish on July 14. The run is made on a point system, and gold medals will be awarded winners in the various classes.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, July 9.—The backer of Bill Squires, the Australian pugilist, who was defeated in the first round of a fight with Tommy Burns at Colma, Cal., July 4, has cabled to the United States offering to give Burns $2,500 and the whole gate money, win, lose or draw, for a return fight with Squires within a month.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The report upon the Brownsville investigation by the senate committees will not be made until congress convenes in December, but it may be set down at this time that it will pave the way for the discharged colored soldiers to re-enter the army. Senator Foraker may be so satisfied with the conclusions of the majority of the committee that he will make no minority report. There are assurances also that President Roosevelt will be satisfied with this result.

THROW BOTTLES AT CAP CHANCE

BROOKLYN FANS START RIOT IN LAST GAME IN EAST

CAPTAIN ALSO GETS BUSY

Throws the Bottles Back and Mob Swarms on Field. Police Finally Drive Crowd Back

NEW YORK, July 9.—Rioting began in the last few moments of the game in which Chicago defeated Brooklyn yesterday afternoon at Washington park, and for an hour after the game the police had difficulty in handling the crowd which insisted upon waiting near the ball field to vent their displeasure upon Capt. Chance of the visiting team.

As soon as the Chicago took the field in the ninth inning some of the bleachers began throwing empty pop bottles at the Chicago captain, who plays first base. Chance ignored the first few bottles, but then became angry and picking up three of the bottles he hurled two of them into the 25 cent stand and one into the 50 cent stand. One of these bottles struck a boy who set up a yell and in an instant a shower of bottles began descending upon the Chicago captain, while the occupants of the bleachers began jumping into the field. Chance stopped to collect more bottles to throw when Tinker, the Chicago shortstop, seized him by the arms from behind and the other players checked the advance of the bleacherites until the police came in from outside, as under this year's ruling of the police commissioner they are not permitted to remain inside a ball field during the progress of the game. After five minutes of excitement the field was cleared and Chance went to the club house.

STATE LEAGUE GAMES

Oshkosh 5, Madison 1. OSHKOSH, Wis., July 9.—Oshkosh closed its series with Madison by defeating the visitors 5 to 1. Madison made costly errors, four of them in the fifth inning being responsible for two runs for the Indians without a hit. A feature was a three bagger by Dolan. Score:

N. Y. STREET FIGHT

NEW YORK, July 9.—A pall of water thrown from an upper window and upon the heads of a group of Italian boys, who had disturbed the Sunday quiet of a colored woman, incited a riot on "San Juan Hill" last night that landed five men, one dying, in the hospitals, made several men prisoners and terrified the peaceably inclined among the 10,000 persons of all nationalities who reside in West Sixty-first and West Sixty-second streets, between West End and Amsterdam avenues.

A good share of the Italians of the section were on one side and on the other colored neighbors were involved, while the hoodlums of all races seized the opportunity to attack the other.

While the battle raged in the street less adventurous rioters went to the tenements and showered bricks and chunks of coping and flower pots upon the heads of those below.

FREE EMPLOYMENT AGENCY IS REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

2,353 Given Employment Since Last July Against 1,876 in 1905, the First Year.

The annual report of Thomas McMullen, superintendent of the Wisconsin Free Employment bureau in this city, for the year ending July 1, shows a wonderful increase in the amount of work accomplished by the office this year over that of the year previous. Three hundred and thirty-eight more people were supplied with positions through this medium this year than last, and 537 more than during the first year it was established. Mr. McMullen has been superintendent of the local bureau ever since it was established by Governor La Follette three years ago, and through his efforts the office has found employment for a total of 6,244 people, male and female. The totals for the three years follow:

First year	1,876
Second year	2,015
Third year	2,353

Of those who were provided with employment during the last year, 1,718 were males and 635 females. The majority of the male help is classified as laborers, a total of 1,178 coming under this head. Of the females 229 were domestics and 224 scrub women.

A Busy Week.

During the past week Mr. McMullen has found employment for 66 people, male and female, 48 males and 18 females. The positions are classified as follows:

MALES

Carpenters	3
Liverymen	2
Factory hands	6
Farm hands	3
Hostlers	2
Laborers	30
Painters	1
Teamsters	1
Total	38

FEMALES

Chamber maids	2
Cooks	1
Domestics	3
Factory hands	4
Nurse girls	2
Scrub women	4
Waitresses	2
Totals	18

RETURNS HOME AND IS TAKEN TO JAIL

LANSING, Ia., July 9.—(Special)—Will Anderson returned home for a short visit with his parents over the Fourth of July, and to his surprise was arrested and taken to Waukon on an old charge that was against him about seven years ago. The game of baseball between Lansing and New Albin Sunday, was in favor of the former. The score was 7 to 2. A new cement sidewalk is being put in on the Natway property. Florence Haden has taken her position again with the New Jersey Button works after a short vacation.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of the president, was second in her graduation class in the Cathedral school of Washington.

The two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Margaret Rung of Williamsport, Pa., hugged her baby sister so hard that she broke the infant's collar bone.

Mme. Emma Calve as proprietress of the Chateau de Carriers, in the department of Aveyron, France, has received a gold medal at the Rodez agricultural show for model farming.

Adelina Patti has a superb collection of jewels, her diamonds alone being valued at $375,000. She has sung before most of the royalties, most all of whom have made her presents of jewelry.

Ida Lewis, keeper of the Lime Island lighthouse, near Newport, R. I., one of the few women in the United States holding such a position, is probably the greatest life saver of her sex in the world.

One of the oldest women in Vermont is Mrs. Ruth Allen Smith of Putney, who recently celebrated her one hundred and fourth birthday anniversary. She is remarkably keen and bright and is a constant reader of newspapers.

Mrs. M. C. Barber, a sister of the late Mrs. William McKinley, announces that she will buy the homestead of the late president and his wife if their heirs will sell it and present it to the National McKinley Memorial association.

Mrs. Marshall Field, widow of Chicago's merchant prince, is to become an inspector of milk, a visitor to the tenement houses of Chicago, an angel of the hospitals and rival for sociological honors of Miss Jane Addams and Mrs. Potter Palmer.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON LA CROSSE

"Keep Your Eye on La Crosse!"

That is the slogan to the sound of which the people of this city are to march in the procession of progression. It is an inspiration to home people, a challenge to the world.

The design is made more effective by its catchy arrangement "Keep Your" forms the top, and "On La Crosse" the bottom portion of the margin of the button whose center is a human eye. The striking idea was conceived by Mr. Jule Hoff, window trimmer at the Park store.

But the purpose which it serves is the real thing of importance. It mustn't be all noise. There must be a determination on the part of everybody to push the button and start the machinery of growth. It will not do to "fall down," if that were possible. The world has been invited to "keep its eye on La Crosse." It certainly will, and unless things move the fact will be noted just as truly as it will be noted if things do move.

Things are going to move. The men who have put their shoulders to the wheel are in dead earnest about it. That does not mean the committees only. It means the men, ALL the men, of La Crosse. The time to push La Crosse is ripe, and they know it. The business institutions we now have are taking great strides. Never has there been greater expansion of local concerns. Never has there been a more general building movement in residence as well as business lines. Never has there been a greater number of public edifices going up at one time. Never has there been a better, firmer feeling so far as the business we have is concerned.

That is fortunate. It is important. It is the best reason in the world for striking hard for more institutions and more population to run them. The visitor looking for investment and location can find no more enticing condition than is presented by prosperity and activity or established concerns. All we can say to him about the beauties and advantages of the city will not tell half as much as it will tell to show him the duplication of its plant by the Listman Mill company, the building of a great new factory by Votenberg company, the fine new establishment of the Stamping & Tool works, and so on. It will tell much with his decision that we can point out the new high school, the new auditorium, the new weather observatory, the new normal, the new Y. M. C. A.

These things are going to talk for us. And the people are going to show visitors that we are a "live bunch." So it is not, we believe, an idle challenge La Crosse is throwing at the country at large when it says from a button that will adorn the coat lapel of every La Crosse man and proudly surmount the bonnet of every woman, "Keep Your Eye On La Crosse."

WAR TALK AND FACTS

In an article that appears in this issue of THE TRIBUNE Dr. Shegataro Morikubo, a Japanese resident of La Crosse, discusses the controversy affecting the present relations of Japan and the United States in the broad and humane manner in which it is viewed by the good citizens of both nations.

War is a serious thing. Both Japan and the United States have had sufficiently recent experiences to fully understand this. Neither nation, we believe, will contemplate a resort to arms until every expedient, every sacrifice, to avoid it has been made.

The educated, thinking people of Japan understand the conditions here as truly as the same class in the United States understands the feeling in Japan.

There is no use of dodging facts. San Francisco is dominated by its labor element, and the anti-Japanese feeling and misconduct is involved in the labor fight there. Japanese and Chinese are not treated fairly. The United States government knows this. Japan knows it. And Japan realizes that under our form of government the national administration is embarrassed by the existence of a division of authority between state and nation making it difficult for the government at Washington to act as it would like to act. As General Funston puts it, it is an "unwhipped mob" in "Frisco" that is responsible. The Boise trial is bringing vividly to the public mind the fact that for years labor strife in the far west has amounted almost to civil war, and anarchy has had its inning.

And rowdism, protected by that bugaboo of another war, "states' rights," is at the root of all the row and pow-wow with Japan. The problem is a serious one, but the nations who must settle it are serious, progressive nations. These great peoples have felt a bond of mutual sympathy for years, and there is reason to hope that the danger will be passed and the serenity of peace remain undisturbed.

The St. Paul mother who spanked her boy on the pistol pocket and had her hand burned in the explosion of giant powder caps and matches that followed can plead that historic defense, "I didn't know it was loaded."

Judge Landis proposes to so arrange it that trust magnates of the future will dispense with "A. D." and "B. C." and date all their acts before or after August 3, 1907.

The Japanese think the fighting blood of our navy officers is of the drawing room sort, or as Fitz James Fitz put it, "That of some vain carpet knight." In other words, they are lady killers.

The Des Moines society folk who, inspired by champagne, went back to the primitive costumes of Adam and Eve during a country picnic, were annoyed when the bare facts were recited in court.

Mayor Schmitz recently announced to the electorate that he was out for another term. He got another term (five years in prison), but instead of being out for it, he is in for it.

Now it is said that Harriman is to be indicted for complicity in a public lands fraud. Between Harriman and Hill there has been created an impression that there aren't any public lands.

Another $3,000 pearl has been dug up at Prairie du Chien. And to think that Cecil Rhodes wasted his time in South Africa!

One of the best ways to boost La Crosse is to boost our own business. For we are La Crosse.

ANOTHER GRANT HOMESTEAD

St. Louis Times.)

While modern brick dwellings have sprung up on all sides in the vicinity of Tenth and Barton streets, there remains standing two doors west of the corner an antiquated little wooden cottage. The humble structure was the abode of General Ulysses S. Grant, soldier, statesman and president of the United States, and it is believed was the birthplace of General Frederick Grant.

The little structure has a ground floor containing four small rooms. An attic room is reached by a narrow flight of rickety wooden stairs. The two front windows of the attic are barred by iron rods; just why, unless it was intended to be used as the repository for the family wealth.

Three of the rooms were used by the Grants as sleeping apartments, and the fourth, on the ground floor, is a tiny kitchen.

The house was occupied by the Holloway family for many years after they acquired it in 1865, for $3,025 from the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. White.

White obtained the house from Grant, according to the tradition, in exchange for the farm in the country on which Grant built in 1854 the famous "White House." Holloway says she intends to communicate with Congressman Bartholdt, who is president of the Grant Cabin association, and inform him of the history of the cottage and the fact that it is subject to acquisition by the association.

WHICH—BRACHYCEPHALIC OR DOLICHOCEPHALIC?

(New York World.)

The cabled news from London that the average hat of an Englishman is smaller than it used to be need surprise no one. In part it is the result of the "telling processes of democracy." Many people habitually wear "stove" hats whose ill-fitted ancestors used them only on great occasions, if at all. The average stature of the English people too has probably declined since the introduction of the factory system, though in most other countries stature tends to increase. In part the change is due to the mixture of races. Within his long lifetime Gladstone was able to see a striking increase in the percentage of dark-haired people in England. The dark races are generally brachycephalic, or round-headed, whereas the Saxons were dolichocephalic, or long-headed. Round heads are supposed to be artistic and executive, long heads reflective and philosophical.

ROCKEFELLER'S DUTY

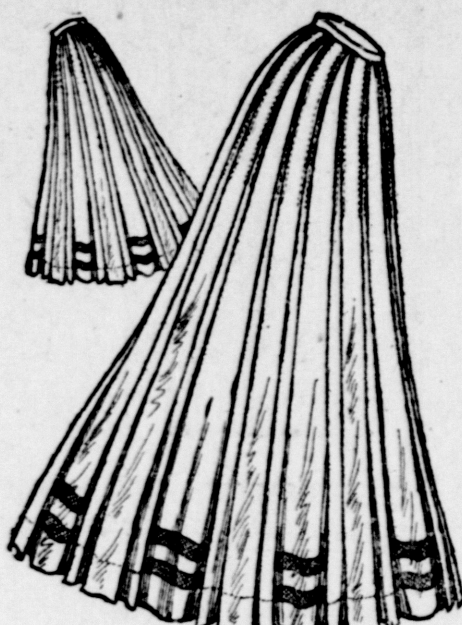

(Washington Star.)

Taking everything into consideration, the presence of the nominal head of the company in court is imperatively required, as an object lesson if not as a means of securing information. Mr. Rockefeller might spare some of the strength and time he is just at present wasting in dodging subpoena servers and devote a few hours to a trip to Chicago and an appearance upon the witness stand. He would gain mightily in moral stature if he were to obey the commands of the court and at least avow his ignorance of Standard Oil affairs under oath.

It isn't easy to get a job on Easy street.

FASHION HINTS

(By May Marton.)

5706 Double Box Plaited Skirt,
22 to 30 waists.

DOUBLE BOX PLAIED SKIRT WITH PANELS BETWEEN 5706 Perforated for Walking Length. The double box plaited skirt is one of the later favorites and is so graceful and generally becoming that the fact of its popularity is easily accounted for. This one is made with plain panels between the box plaits and is simple and easily made at the same time that it is most satisfactory in effect. In this instance it is made of chiffon Panama cloth with braid applied on the panels only, but almost countless variations of trimming can be made while also a plain hem stitched with beading silk is always correct. In fact, as much or as little elaboration can be employed as may be liked. Bands of the same or of contrasting material are much in vogue and are always effective while bias or cross on plaid or checked is a feature of the season.

The skirt is made with plain, narrow panels which are joined to the box plaited portions and the plaits are stitched flat well below the hips while they are only pressed into position below the stitchings. A choice is allowed of round or walking length. The quantity of material required for the medium size is 13 1/2 yards 27, 10 1/2 yards of) or 8 1/2 yards 44 inches wide if there is figure or nap; 12 yards 27, 9 1/2 yards 32 or 6 1/2 yards 44 inches wide if there is not, with 4 1/2 yards of braid. The pattern 5706 is cut in sizes for a, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inch waist measure and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of 10 cents. (If in haste send an additional 2 cent stamp for better postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

OF HUMAN INTEREST

If girls knew how quick people are to judge their home environment by the way they act on the street and in public places, they would perhaps be more careful about their behavior. In almost every case it is pure thoughtlessness and the desire for a "real good time" that leads young people to scream with laughter and tell little occurrences in a voice that can easily be heard a block away. A short time ago I was walking behind three girls of about fifteen or sixteen years of age, refined in form and feature. It was in the early evening and they were out for a pleasant walk. Just one glance told that they came from homes that knew no lack of money. Carefully groomed and dressed with great taste, they looked indeed charming. But there the favorable impression was bound to end. Shouts of laughter and walking all over the sidewalk and even slapping each other on the shoulders, told every one within hailing distance that they cared nothing what people might think and were even trying to attract attention to themselves. They may have thought they were having lots of fun, but I'm sure their mothers would have been the first ones to check them. Don't do it girls. Remember that people of good breeding and refinement are more than particular how they deport themselves in public, and lastly the more you respect yourself the more respect you command from others.

FED ON FOOTBALLS

(Harper's Weekly.)

Heffelfinger, the famous "guard" at Yale in the '90's, now a prosperous business man of the west, recently told a story of a countryman who, with his wife, had come down to New Haven to see the "footballers."

The rural one had walked around the stalwart Heffelfinger with an air of critical curiosity, much as he might have surveyed a horse he was about to purchase.

"Sary!" he called to his wife. "What is it?" "This feller's nigh on to seven feet, ain't he?" "Almost, Zachariah."

"Weighs 'bout two hundred and twenty, don't he?" "I reckon he does."

"Well, well, well!" ejaculated the countryman, "it do beat all how football do develop 'em!"

He certainly is a fine young man," said the wife.

"Man!" observed the countryman. "Sary, one of them professors told me himself that this feller's in his fourth year! I wonder what they feed 'em on!"

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

Faint Heart
She stood before him, tall and fair
And gracious, on that summer's day,
With June's first roses in her hair,
And on her cheek the bloom of May.
But rosy cheek and dimple chin,
And raven lashes drooping low,
Conceal the answer he would win;
It might be Yes; would it be No?

Ah! if 'twere No—his throbbing heart
Stood fairly still with sudden pain;
And 'twere Yes, the world so wide
His deep content could scarce contain.

So wondrous fair! how could she stoop
To favor such a one as he?
Ah, sweet suspense that still leaves hope!
Ah, pain of sad uncertainty.

He held her hand so white and small,
And moved to press it with his lips,
But changed his mind, and let it fall,
With childish touch of finger tips,
And took the seat she offered him
Upon the sofa by her side,
Nor made the space between them less,
Which seemed so narrow, yet so wide.

Then gazing on the perfect face,
The dimpled mouth, the serious eyes,
And, drinking in with eager ears,
The music of her low replies,
He let the bright hours drift away,
Nor told the secret of his heart.
But when the shadows lengthened lay,
Rose, all reluctant, to depart.

And stammering forth with blushing cheek
An eager, timorous request
That she, for old acquaintance' sake,
Would grant the rosebud from her breast.

She gave it him with downcast eyes,
And watched him leave her with a sigh.
"So good," she said, "so true, so wise;
Ah, me! if he were not so shy!"

The guilt of the man was so evident that the lawyer for the defense merely said: "I shall make no argument, but only call the attention of the jury to the scripture which reads: 'Let him that is without sin among you cast the first stone at him.'"

"Gentlemen," said the judge, "how could you, on the face of the evidence, render a verdict like that?"

The Worst of It

"Hit the cat?"
"Nope. I hit Billkins, who had just come out to let the cat in."

"There must have been some satisfaction in that."

The Great Alaskan Story
BY REX BEACH

Copyrighted by Rex E. Beach

"The Kid took her away. The Kid shot me," and then his voice rose till it flooded the room with terror. "The Kid shot me and I'm dying." He coughed blood to his lips, at which Roy laid him back and stood up. So there was no mistake, after all, and he had arrived too late. This was the Kid's revenge. This was how he struck. Lacking the courage to face a man's level eyes, he possessed the foulness to prey upon a woman. Roy felt a weakening physical sickness sweep over him till his eye fell upon a sodden garment which Helen had removed from her brother's shoulders and replaced with a dry one. He snatched it from the floor and in a sudden fury felt it come apart in his hands like wet tissue-paper.

He found himself out in the rain, scanning the trampled soil by light of his lamp, and discerned tracks which the drizzle had not yet erased. He reasoned mechanically that the two riders could have no great start of him, so strode out beyond the house to see if they had gone farther into the hills. There were no tracks here, therefore they must have doubled back towards town. It did not occur to him that they might have left the beaten path and followed down the little creek to the river; but, replacing the light where he had found it, he remounted and lashed his horse into a stiff canter up towards the divide that lay between him and the city. The story was growing plainer to him, though as yet he could not piece it all together. His possibilities stabbed him with such horror that he cried out aloud and beat his steed into faster time with both hands and feet. To think of those two ruffians fighting over this girl as though she were the spoils of pillage! He must overtake the Kid—he would! The possibility that he might not throw him into such ungovernable mental chaos that he was forced to calm himself. Men went mad that way. He could not think of it. That gasping creature in the road-house spoke all too well of the Bronco's determination. And yet, who of those who had known the Kid in the past would dream that his villainess was so utter as this?

Away to the right, hidden among the shadowed hills, his friends rested themselves for the coming battle, waiting impatiently his return, and timing it to the rising sun. Down in the valley to his left were the two he followed, while he, obsessed and unreasoning, now cursing like a madman now grim and silent, spurred southward towards town and into the ranks of his enemies.

CHAPTER XXI.
The Hammer-Block.
Day was breaking as Glenister came down the mountain. With the first light he halted to scan the trail, and having no means of knowing that the fresh tracks he found were not those of the two riders he followed, he urged his lathered horse ahead till he became suddenly conscious that he was very tired and had not slept for two days and nights. The recollection did not reassure the young man, for his body was a weapon which must not fail in the slightest measure now that there was work to do. Even the unwelcome speculation upon his physical handicap offered relief, however, from the agony which fed upon him whenever he thought of Helen in the gambler's hands. Meanwhile the horse, growling at his master's violence, plunged onward towards the roofs of Nome, now growing gray in the first dawn.

It seemed years since Roy had seen the sunlight, for this night, burdened with suspense, had been endlessly long. His body was faint beneath the strain, and yet he rode on and on, tired, dogged, stony, his eyes set towards the sea, his mind a storm of formless, whirling thoughts, beneath which was an undeviating, implacable determination. He knew now that he had sacrificed all hope of the Midas, and likewise the hope of Helen was gone; in fact, he began to realize dimly that from the beginning he had never had the possibility of winning her, that she had never been destined for him, and that his love for her had been sent as a light by which he was to find himself. He had failed everywhere, he had become an outlaw, he had fought and gone down, certain only of his rectitude and the mastery of his unruly spirit. Now the hour had come when he could perform his last mission, deriving therefrom that satisfaction which the gods could not deny. He would have his vengeance.

The scheme took form without conscious effort on his part and embraced two things—the death of the gambler and a meeting with McNamara. Of the former, he had no more doubt than that the sun rising there would sink in the west. So well confirmed was his belief that the details did not engage his thought; but on the result of the other encounter he speculated with some interest. From the first McNamara had been a riddle to him, and mystery breeds curiosity. His blind, instinctive hatred of the man had assumed the proportions of a mania; but as to what the outcome would be when they met face to face, fate alone could tell. Anyway, McNamara should not have Helen. Roy believed his mission covered that point as well as her deliverance from the Bronco Kid. When he had finished—he would pay the price. If he had the luck to escape, he would go back to his hills and his solitude; if he did not, his future would be in the hands of his enemies.

He entered the silent streets unobserved, for the mists were heavy and low. Smoke columns arose vertically in the still air. The rain had ceased, having beaten down the waves which rumbled against the beach, filling the streets with their subdued thunder. A ship, anchored in the offing, had run in from the lee of Sledge Island with the first lull, while midway to the shore a tender was rising and falling, its oars flashing like the silvered feelers of a sea insect crawling upon the surface of the ocean.

He rode down Front street heedless of danger, heedless of the comment his appearance might create, and, unseen, entered his enemy's stronghold. He passed a gambling hall, through the windows of which came a sickly yellow gleam. A man came out unsteadily and stared at the horseman, then passed on.

Glenister's plan was to go straight to the Northern and from there to track down its owner relentlessly, but in order to reach the place his course led him past the office of Dunham & Struve. This brought back to his mind the man dying out there ten miles at his back. The scantiest humanity demanded that assistance be sent at once. Yet he dared not give word openly, thus betraying his presence, for it was necessary that he maintain his liberty during the next hour at all hazards. He suddenly thought of an expedient and reined in his horse, which stopped with wide-spread legs and dejected head while he dismounted and climbed the stairs to leave a note upon the door. Some one would see the message shortly and recognize its urgency.

In dressing for the battle at the Midas on the previous night he had replaced his leather boots with "mukluks," which are waterproof, light, and pliable footwear made from the skin of seal and walrus. He was thus able to move as noiselessly though in moccasins. Finding neither pencil nor paper in his pocket, he tried the outer door of the office, to find it unlocked. He stepped inside and listened, then moved towards a table on which were writing materials, but in doing so heard a rustle in Struve's office. Evidently his soft soles had not disturbed the man inside. Roy was about to tiptoe out as he had come when the hidden man cleared his throat. It is in these involuntary sounds that the voice retains its natural quality more distinctly even than in speaking. A strange eager-

FULLY SETTLES CLAIM BY PAYMENT OF $17,000

OTHER ROADS MAY SETTLE

In That Case Wisconsin Treasury Will be Enriched in the Sum of About $500,000

MADISON, Wis., July 9.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company has made a settlement in full of the claim of the state against that road for back license fees accruing upon unreported gross earnings during the last six years. The amount is $17,000, of which about $5,000 is interest on the principal.

Under the recent decision of the supreme court on the license fees cases the state could not recover for a period running further back than six years, but could recover the unpaid license fees for that period. The amount of back license fees accruing on unreported gross earnings were discovered under the investigation conducted by former Railroad Commissioner John W. Thomas, whose investigation was conducted under a law passed by the legislature of 1905. The settlement is a full payment of the state.

This suit was begun by L. M. Sturdevant while he was attorney general, and the final steps in the matter were taken after the supreme court decision.

An Acknowledgement of Claim

The assembly killed a bill authorizing the governor, the attorney general and the secretary of state to settle the railroad cases growing out of the unpaid license fees, the argument being advanced that as the state knew what it had coming there was really nothing to settle. The payment in full of the state's claim by the Burlington is in reality not a settlement, but an admission of the validity of the claim and the payment of the amount which the state was suing for.

Other Roads May Settle

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & North Western are also expected to make their payments without further litigation, unless it should appear later that there is some disagreement as to the correctness of Railroad Commissioner Thomas's figures. According to Mr. Sturdevant the total amount which the railroads owe the state under these suits is approximately $500,000. The immediate settlement of the cases may prevent the necessity of the levying of a state tax to meet the appropriations made by the present legislature.

SEEKS DIETZ POSSE IN ANOTHER STATE

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 9.—John Dietz of the Cinnabar dam is to be attacked again in his stronghold, according to the statement of John Clark, a deputy sheriff of Sawyer county, Wisconsin, who is here trying to secure men to join the expedition. Clark says that this time the attacking party will be strong enough to make a strong fight, and that Dietz will be taken dead or alive. Clark says that sympathy for Dietz is so strong in Sawyer county and all that part of Wisconsin that it would be impossible to organize a posse there to go after him. The attacking party he says, will be backed by the courts and officers of the law.

So far as can be ascertained Deputy Clark has not received much encouragement in the organization of his posse. There seems to be fully as much popular sympathy with Dietz in this state as in Wisconsin.

"UNCLE JOE" CANNON TO VISIT MR. PECK

OCONOMOWOC, Wis., July 9.—According to word received here yesterday, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, will visit Oconomowoc on Monday next. Speaker Cannon, with a party of prominent Chicagoans, will come to this city in a private car to attend a birthday party to be given by Ferdinand W. Peck of Chicago, whose summer residence is located here.

DETECTIVES FIND EVIDENCE

Man, Who Is Married, Tells Conflicting Stories and Is Lodged in Jail at Wausau.

WAUSAU, Wis., July 9.—Rudolph Fuhweiler has been arrested for the murder of Jennie Rehle at Stratford on Sunday, June 30. He is the man who found the body.

From the first Fuhweiler has been under suspicion and detectives have followed his every movement. The case is considered a strong one against him, as he has told many conflicting stories as to his whereabouts that fatal Sunday afternoon.

His arrest was effected in Wausau, where he had been brought under pretense of assisting in surveying work. He was brought before Judge Marchetti and bound over without bail.

The case against him is murder. His examination was postponed eight days.

CONNOR'S ROAD IS HIT

MADISON, Wis., July 9.—The Wisconsin railroad commission yesterday held a hearing on the petition of Nicholas Streveler for an order compelling the Marathon County Railroad company to furnish better station facilities and regular train service and reduce its rates on freight.

After the hearing it was announced that probably a satisfactory agreement between the petitioner and the owner of the road, the R. Conner Lumber company, would be reached on the points in controversy and that no action by the commission would be necessary.

The case has attracted some attention because Lieut. Gov. W. D. Connor is a large stockholder, and Mr. Streveler, the petitioner, was sergeant at arms of the assembly two years ago, having secured the position through the political influence of Mr. Connor.

COL. JOHN HICKS GIVES MONUMENT

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 9.—With suitable speech by Bishop Samuel Fallows, the soldiers' monument in Opera House square was unveiled yesterday afternoon before a crowd that cheered Colonel John Hicks, the donor. Colonel Hicks, American minister to Chili, returned several days ago to be present at the ceremony. There was also present Chevalier Gaetano Trentanove of Florence, Italy, who designed the monument.

STATE BRIEFS

GREEN BAY.—Mrs. Joseph Wonznaik of the town of Glenmore, the mother of five small children, was thrown from a wagon last Tuesday during a runaway and died in St. Vincent's hospital.

KENOSHA.—Efforts are being made to find trace of Harry Cox of Menasha, Wis., who disappeared from this city last Sunday, on the eve of his marriage to Miss Elizabeth Kollman.

WAUATAPCA.—Another heavy hail and electric storm passed over here, breaking windows and doing serious damage to the apple crop. Growers figure at least $5,000 damage.

MADISON.—State Treasurer A. W. Dahl's home was robbed last night. The burglars secured a gold watch.

NEW RICHMOND.—The suits for false imprisonment brought by young men of this city against Mayor S. N. Hawkins, Police Justice Sylvester S. Beebe and former Police Officer James E. O'Brien are to be appealed to the supreme court.

BELOIT.—George Moffit, 45 years old, a stableman for the Beloit Tea company, was dragged to death by a team.

MEMONONIE.—A summer school of manual training and domestic science will open here on July 22 for a five weeks' session, under the faculty of the Stout Manual Training school.

SHEBOYGAN.—The cornerstone of the new St. Peter Claver church was laid on Sunday by the Rev. Father P. M. Abelen, assisted by the Rev. Father N. D. Durnin of Milwaukee and others.

EAU CLAIRE.—Walter Bechman, aged 20 years, a telephone line man, met death by falling forty feet from a pole. His head came in contact with a live wire, the shock making him let go of the pole.

CHIPPewa FALLS.—Joseph Moore of the town of Sigel had a narrow escape from being buried alive in a newly constructed cistern. His son shouted for help, and a neighbor dug out the father.

RHINELANDER.—Chris Anderson aged 70 years, was run over and instantly killed by a Soo switch engine yesterday in the company's yards.

KENOSHA.—Dr. Frank H. Ehman of this city was arraigned here this morning on a serious statutory charge, the complaining witness being Richard Thirfelder, one of the foremen of the Chicago-Kenosha Hokey works. No warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Thirfelder. Dr. Ehman had been practicing in Kenosha for the last year and a half. Before that time he practiced in Milwaukee. He was married a year ago to a Milwaukee girl.

MILWAUKEE MEN TO FIGHT DENVER CASE

SEEK TO EVADE LIABILITY AND RESORT TO TECHNICALITIES

CLAIM CRIME HAS OUTLAWED

In Case That Contention Is Defeated They Will Attack the Jurisdiction of the Denver Court

MILWAUKEE, July 9.—Seven of the incorporators and former officers of the Wisconsin Coal Mining company have been put under bonds of $1,000 each, which were furnished, for their appearance before United States Court Commissioner Francis Bloodgood, July 16, at 11 o'clock.

At the hearing on July 16, Hugh F. Ryan and W. J. Turner, representing Guy D. Goff and Charles F. Hunter, will argue that the statute of limitations will prevent the prosecution of these defendants. The indictment alleges the conspiracy with which they are charged to have been formed between July 26 and August 6, 1902. But there are several overt acts alleged in the indictment, and the government will contend that the conspiracy was continued by the performance of these acts, so that the statute of limitations will not apply. The government must begin its action within three years after an offense is committed. If the forming of the company in 1902 and the arrangements leading up to its formation constitute the conspiracy, then the defendants will come under the statute of limitations.

A question of jurisdiction. If the court decides against the defendants on this argument, the question of jurisdiction will be raised, the defendants claiming that the Denver grand jury cannot legally indict them for acts committed in Wisconsin. In the event of their establishing that point, the only method by which the government could proceed against them would be to have an investigation here with indictments here by a grand jury. If the court decides that the defendants should be tried according to the complaint in the indictment, then they will be held to the United States district court for Colorado for trial. Commissioner Bloodgood said positively yesterday that the defendant's could not be tried in Milwaukee under an indictment returned in Denver.

INSPECTION FOR TROOPERS

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., July 9.—Troopers and artillerymen of Milwaukee were put through the ordeal of inspection at the state Wisconsin National guard camp yesterday. Troop A made a fine showing before the inspecting officers. Gen. Charles King and Lieut. John H. Lewis, U. S. A. Both Gen. King and Lieut. Lewis, who is himself an officer in the Fifth United States cavalry, complimented Capt. Robert Mueller on the appearance of his troop.

POLICIES AND THE MAN

(Chicago News.) Striking evidence that it is not the man but his principles that have first place in the public mind is found in the fact that of late "Roosevelt policies" have been definitely separated from the Roosevelt personality as something that the people must fight for beyond the limits of the Roosevelt administration. Today the Americans who want the Roosevelt personality retained in the white house after March 4, 1909, are far outnumbered by those who stand ready to do battle for the perpetuation and natural evolution of the "Roosevelt policies."

SCIENCE DISSECTS TENDER PASSION

EYES, SMILES AND CHEWING GUM ENTER INTO IT

CUPID'S SECRETS LAID BARE

Elements Cause Psychic Emotive Obsession, Says Scientist Who Knows

NEW YORK, July 9.—Now let poor Cupid go hide his diminished head. Science has taken up the scalpel; the little god has been vivisectioned.

No less authority than Dr. G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., and professor of psychology there, has come forward with the scientific theory of love. He first took a census of 1,000 young lovers of all stations in life. Each one was asked what most endeared to him or to her the one particular object of affection. Here is what Dr. Hall has laid down about scientific love and how it is produced:

"The order of points specified as most admired in the other sex by the young men and women in their teens is as follows: Eyes, hair, teeth, stature and size, feet, brows, complexion, cheeks, form of head, throat, ears, chin, hands, neck, nose, nails, and even fingers and shape of face."

Students Rave of Hair

"In Drew's census of 356 love poems of college students, eyes and hair also lead, where kisses are often unreal and dreams fancied. Charms of hands, sweetheart's songs, pout, sigh, smile and even chewing gum are also specialized fascinations."

"Eight per cent of the young men are susceptible to sloping shoulders; 7 per cent of the girls specify broad shoulders; 10 per cent favor regular and 6 per cent white teeth; long lashes charm 5 per cent of the young men; long, clean or pink finger nails are often given; arched eyebrows among girls find a special susceptibility in 4 per cent of the youths, while cowlicks charm 3 per cent."

"Often the specializations of taste and preference lay great stress upon the color of the hair or shape of the hands or fingers. A nose slightly retroussé, a long neck, prominent eyes, dimples and even freckles have special erotic power."

Many Lured by Voice

"Passing to movements or acts, the voice has far the greater number of preferences. Some are affected by a high, some by a low voice; the rising inflection, clearness, flexibility, a lisp, special intonations, accents or even dialects are often prepotent. Mode of laughing comes next, while carriage, gait, gesture, movement or roll of the eyes, poise of the head and shoulders, mode of fanning, use of handkerchief, holding the dress, way of sitting or sighing may each have a special pre-eminence."

"In dress or toilet, hair leads, and length, mode of parting, dressing, curling or bows are detailed. Rings, bracelets and ribbons come next, with the girls; and with the boys clothes that fit, especially those at the shoulders and waists. Canes, glasses, furs, collars, teeth filled with gold, clean linen, white handkerchiefs, pronounced style in the hats and even parasols, mode of watch charms, style of collars, frizzes or coils, neatness—all have adherents."

"Conversely, dislikes are no less pronounced: Prominent, deep-set eyes, fullness of neck, ears that stand out, brows that meet, broad long nose, high cheek bones, light eyes, large nose, small stature, long neck or teeth, bushy brows, pimples, red hair and a score of other points."

"Of abhorred habits the following lead: Snuffing, lipping, rolling of eyes, loud voice, 'er and 'um-ing, pausing in talk, gesticulations, sarcastic smiles, hard or tasteless laugh, stiffness in movement and swaggering."

"Other dislikes are: Earrings worn by men; lost teeth; neglect of style, bangs, thumb rings, hat on side in man, short hair in woman, baldness ultra style, clothes that do not fit, monocles, flashy ties, untidy linen, handkerchiefs in colors, furs and rings for men and cheap and coarse dress."

"Resemblance to animals play a great and surprising role in adolescence among dislikes. Resemblances suggested by face, voice, notion or character, are monkey, dog, parrot, pig, bird, peacock, cat, hen, donkey, sheep, rabbit, bear and fox."

"Qualities disliked are impertinence, flattery, affectations, boldness, complaints, bashfulness, languor, criticism, deliberation, overgallantry and frankness."

Trivial Traits Magnified "These are the alphabet or sociological material of which romantic love is so largely composed. Where trivial they often eclipse great qualities, and one trait may be magnified beyond all bounds."

Normally social preferences no doubt are often consciously and still more unconsciously associated with liking for individuals. They are instinctively organized parts of a large whole, so that when one who embodies in his or her own person most of these traits is met with love may suddenly recognize and focus on its own. Love is in this view the practical culmination of self-knowledge which is aware of defects.

"I find the following definitions by alienists of love of the kind that is described in novels: 'Emotive delusion, fixed idea, rudimentary mania, psychic neurasthenia, psychic emotive obsession and episodic symptoms of hereditary degeneracy. In any case aesthetic taste is unconsciously being cultivated over a wide range of topics.'"

"Female coyness and reluctance or refusal so deep-seated as to belie the biblical imputation that this sex made the first advances. The world owes to her the precious and primal motive of reserve. All through the animal series she leads.

"Modesty is at the root mode, and woman is its priestess. 'It is on these laws, written and unwritten, that coquetry loves to play. It flees, but flees in a circle, or to excite pursuit it resists, but so as to provoke conquests.'"

THE COOKBOOK.

When cooking anything that requires constant stirring, put it in a crock or granite pan, cover and place in the oven. It will cook without burning and save bending over a hot stove.

Boiled eggs to slice nicely should be put over the fire in cold water and should remain fifteen minutes after the water begins to boil and allowed to cool in the same water. If cooled by dropping into cold water they will not cut smoothly.

Scrambled eggs with tomatoes make an appetizing luncheon dish. Take two good sized tomatoes, peel and cut them in pieces and fry them in a little hot olive oil. When cooked drain off the liquid and take four eggs, well beaten, add some cream and scramble. Mix the tomatoes with the eggs, seasoning with salt and pepper to taste. Serve on thin slices of toast.

MISS ELSIE JANKE THE BRIDE

Happy Event is Marriage of Popular
Pastor and Captivating Girl of Congregation

SPARTA, Wis., July 9.—(Special).—Last evening the German Lutheran church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, being that of its pastor, Rev. Henry Schneling and Miss Elsie Janke. The bride was attended in a handsome gown of white liberty silk, with lace bertha and bridal veil of tulle caught to her hair by a bunch of white carnations and asparagus ferns. The bride was attended by Miss Ella Schlaver, who wore white organdy and blue. Mr. August Kiefer acted as best man. Rev. J. G. Glaeser of La Crosse performed the ceremony. The bridal party entered the church at 8 o'clock to the strains of Loehengrin's wedding march. After reaching the altar the four were seated in chairs and there remained during the ser-

NEW COMMISSION COMPANY TO OPEN

WILL TAKE PLACE OF CONCERN
CLOSED BY COURT

FRANK WALKER TO BE AGENT

Will Continue With F. J. Miller &
Co. in Capacity He Occupied
With Grain and Stock Co.

A new grain, stock and commission house is to be opened in La Crosse within the next two or three days, to take the place of the Wisconsin Grain & Stock company which has been put out of business by federal authorities of St. Paul, charging the company with misusing the mails and conducting a "bucket" shop. The F. J. Miller & Co., members of the Chicago board of trade, are arranging today for the opening of offices in the McMillan building.

C. H. Hurst, a representative of the concern, is in the city and announces that the offices will be opened as soon as they can be fitted up. F. S. Walker, who has been managing the local offices of the Wisconsin Grain & Stock company, has accepted a similar position with the new concern. Mr. Walker has not received any word from the head offices of the Wisconsin Grain & Stock company as to the conditions existing over the present trouble, which has made the company quit business, but had the following to say this morning:

"It is my belief that all creditors of the company in La Crosse will be paid. The company is solvent and well able to take care of its financial obligations. It has contracted but few debts, paying rent and telegraph toll in advance in all cases. When this trouble is settled I believe the company will reorganize and conduct its affairs even on a larger scale."

The F. J. Miller & Co. is one of the largest stock commission concerns doing business. The local branch will have wires to Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Winnipeg.

ESCAPED SEA LION MAY BE NEAR HERE

DENISON OF DEEP FLED FROM THE MINNEAPOLIS ZOO

SEARCH ON FOR MISSING ONE

Paupukeewis Went Over the Falls
Bellowing.

Somewhere in the Mississippi—maybe in the La Crosse harbor or Pettibone park lagoon—there is disporting one large sealion. His name is Paupukeewis and he was in such a hurry that he shot the chutes right over Minnehaha falls Sunday evening. Then he swam off into the darkness like a streak, leaving his two mates bellowing mournfully.

Longfellow garden is the new zoo at Minnehaha. Three sea lions from Santa Barbara, Cal., were part of the happy family there. They have been kept in a stout wire inclosure supplied with water by diverting part of the creek through it. Sunday night an attendant who had been feeding the amphibians left the gate of the inclosure open and Paupukeewis made a quick sneak.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Jones noticed there were but two sea lions in the pen and made a hasty search. There was only one place to look and it was the work of only a few minutes to discover the truant having the time of his life in the main channel of the creek. Help was summoned and a desperate attempt made to round up Mr. Sealion, but he was as wise as he was slippery, and made off down stream. The pursuers kept in sight to the crest of the falls, where he disappeared.

An instant later there was a splash plainly audible above the noise of the laughing water, but a thorough search later failed to reveal any dead sea lion in the pool, and the conclusion that Paupukeewis had started out to see the world for himself was inevitable.

Mr. Jones immediately telegraphed to Lon Sherwood, an old riverman at Lilydale, below St. Paul, to get busy. Sherwood recovered the swans that escaped down river from the gardens some time ago, and Jones has hopes that Paupukeewis will not get past him.

The sealion truant was one of the three placed in the gardens this spring and was valued at $300.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, rapid liver with indigestion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Barlow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. RECEIVERS FOR THE TRUSTS HEREAFTER

GOVERNMENT PROPOSES TO USE NEW WEAPON NOW

FIRST ATTEMPT TO COME SOON

Federal Receivers to be Asked for the Powder Trust and Tobacco Trust—Not Oil Trust

CHICAGO, July 9.—The Tribune this morning publishes the following Washington dispatch:

The department of justice has a new rod in pickle for the trusts.

Hereafter mere injunction to restrain illegal combinations from doing business will not be enough for the government. Wherever conditions permit, it is proposed to request the court to appoint a receiver to operate the business of a convicted corporation, squeeze out the water, and sell plants so as to revive competition. By this method the interest of the public which needs the products of these plants will be safeguarded and the interests of all stockholders will be protected by distribution among them of the proceeds of the sale.

As devised by Attorney General Bonaparte and Assistant Attorney General Purdy, the program of the department hereafter will be to petition the courts to act along one or more of the following lines:

That an injunction be issued for the dissolution of an illegal combination.

That contracts or agreements in restraint of trade be abrogated.

That receivers be appointed to sell plants of combination found guilty of violation of the anti-trust law.

That criminal sentence be imposed as provided by anti-trust law.

That conspiracies in restraint of trade shall be punished in accordance with the conspiracy statute as well as the anti-trust law.

Strikes at Two Combines.

The department proposes to ask for the appointment of a receiver in bills it is preparing against the powder trust and tobacco trust.

Standard Not Within Reach.

The Standard Oil company has not reached the stage of legal development which the powder and tobacco trusts have attained, and probably it cannot be gripped by the receiver method. But in this case the department has asked for the dissolution of the trust and the court will be expected to take action to bring this about.

WOMEN

his wife's sister, Mrs. Torge Severson, formerly Miss Mattie Hallan, of the North side.

Mrs. Severson's home was swept away and they barely escaped with their lives.

Upon hearing the approach of the roaring wind they all went into their cellar and there awaited in breathless suspense, the arrival of the storm.

Their house was lifted from over their heads and Ole Severson, father of his sister-in-law, was about to be lifted from the cellar with it, when he was held by his relatives and saved.

Their house was carried, intact, a distance of about one-fourth of a mile and was then torn to bits and scattered piece by piece along the route of the storm. They were only able to find splinters of it here and there, in the wake of the cyclone.

Even the machinery which was carried up with the machine sheds, was torn to pieces and dropped along the route in the same manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Severson reside between Elroy and New Lisbon, and a little north of Tomah.

The storm was between 6 to 15 rods wide and moved in a southeasterly direction according to Mr. Temple's description.

The log house of Ole Witley was scattered along the entire route of the storm and Mr. Witley was taken up into the air and instantly killed by the fall.

At Tunnel siding Ole Brown was killed by the storm.

Olee Bolgard, who resides near there was seriously injured as was also Ole Johnson.

In six of the places, says Mr. Temple, the residences were lifted completely from the ground and carried away without leaving a vestige of a house.

A brick house near by was taken into the air and not a brick was left on the premises. This gives an idea of the strength of the wind.

It is also said that some of the rock in the vicinity of Camp Douglas was torn from the precipitous pillars which rise from the ground there.

The other two people killed as reported were Mr. and Mrs. Bane of Oakale.

OCCUPY WEATHER STATION SEPT. 1

The work on the United States weather observatory is progressing as fast as could be expected and if everything goes right Observer Thompson expects to move in about the first of September. The porches to the building were completed today and the work of plastering the walls will be started some time during the week.

U. S. Building Inspector H. G. Hales was in the city recently to inspect the building. According to his report the building came up in every detail to the specifications of the contract.

BEGIN PLAY FOR FULLER TROPHY

LOCAL GOLFERS BEGIN ANNUAL TOURNEY TODAY

THIRD TIME WON IS "KEEPS"

Local Delegation of Players Will Go to Madison to Attend the State Tournament.

Today at the Schaghticoke Country club the contest for the Fuller cup is again in play. This trophy was donated a few years ago by Oliver Fuller, an enthusiastic golfer player at Milwaukee and is played for three times each year. The team winning it three times will become permanent holders. The winners at the end of the last year were Mrs. J. J. Ahlert and Wallace Tourtellotte. The cup does not necessarily have to be won three times in that many years, but the winner for the third time takes the cup.

Attend State Meet.

Arrangements are being made by the members of the club to attend the seventh annual tournament of the Wisconsin State Golf association to be held at Madison the 25th to 27th of this month.

The morning of the first day will be devoted to preliminary qualifying for the state championship. Sixteen persons will qualify from the entire list. The state championship games will be played in four rounds, one on the afternoon of the first day, two on the second day and the third on Saturday. A consolation cup will also be presented, and a match handicap contest against bogey and an all-day medal play handicap contest will be held. The medals and cups will be presented Saturday night.

Among the La Crosse players who are expected to attend the tournament are H. L. Colman, J. M. Hixon, F. P. Hixon, G. W. Burton, F. H. Hankerson, R. Gordon, P. M. Gelatt, Wallace Tourtellotte, Nathaniel Tourtellotte and Col. F. A. Copeland.

JAPAN

acy at the first they would be compelled to bow to the inevitable in the end, knowing of the unlimited strength and power of this country.

Japan Misrepresented

"Japan has been misrepresented by the countries. They are not a warlike people as is believed. Japan has engaged in two wars in the past two years, but these were not brought on by Japan. Japan had to fight for self protection. Japan would not go to war with the United States unless it was in self defense. If the United States should stumble over our rights it will be necessary to offer defense.

"There is no enmity existing between the two countries. Colored reports from yellow newspapers—and they exist both in the United States and Japan—have tainted the minds of even the best people of our countries, misleading them from the true status of affairs. The cry of 'yellow peril' has been spread over this country to such an extent that the best people of the country are convinced that a stop to extensive immigration to this country must be made.

"Speaking of the coast trouble I will say that California in itself is controlled by the union. No one can get an office but those who are in the union, and as for the Japanese we all know that they have been misrepresented."

With Russia Again

When asked about the reports that Japan is now engaged in enlarging its navy and assuming warlike preparations, the doctor said:

"Why, do you not know that another war between Japan and Russia is likely? That is why the Japanese navy is being strengthened at this time; it is not being done to make war on the United States."

A Grave Mistake

In reply to a question as to what might happen if the government sent a fleet into the Pacific, he said:

"In my estimation the president will make a great mistake if he takes the step at this time. To send a fleet into the Pacific will look like a formidable preparation for war. The president should not make the move now.

"Another reason why I do not believe that these two countries will go to war is the fact that the United States has befriended Japan in the past. In the early days this country went to its side and protected it from abuse from other countries."

Doctor Morikubo further says that Japan's financial condition is such that it is not in any condition to enter into hostilities. The doctor is a highly educated Japanese and is a member of the Tokio Academy of Science.

INCORRIGIBLE BOY SENT TO WAUKESHA

Frank Sweet of this city was sentenced yesterday afternoon by Acting County Judge Baldwin to one year in the state school at Waukesha for incorrigibility.

Sweet, according to some of the county officials and members of his family, has the making of a genuine bad man. It is said that upon being arrested he said that he would fill anybody who attempted to arrest him full of lead. When the judge passed sentence Sweet still maintained his forced bravado and showed no signs of regretting his misdeeds.

REWARD MAY CLEAR ROBERT MYSTERY

INVESTIGATION THROWS NEW LIGHT ON DEATH

BELIEVE YOUNG MAN SLAIN

Winona Authorities Think Michael Robert Was Killed from Train He Sought to Board

Mystery connected with the death of Michael Robert, a Winona youth, which occurred at Fountain City July 5th, just before J. J. Esch, J. L. Utermoehl and other well known La Crosse people boarded the train for home is growing more dense hourly.

Further investigation into the matter does not serve to make the case much clearer. A reward may be offered for information that shall lead to exact information as to how young Robert met his death. Peter Robert, the father went to Fountain City to see if he can find out anything more than the authorities there have so far succeeded in doing. While the investigation was started in Winona it has not been confined to that city but Coroner J. Steinbach has received assistance from District Attorney Fugina of Fountain City. There was no thought at first at Fountain City but that young Robert met his death by being struck by a train. It is now admitted by Coroner Steinbach and the Fountain City authorities that the cause of death was laceration of the lungs, but how this was produced has not yet been satisfactorily determined. Among other things that the investigation has developed are the following:

Michael Robert went to Fountain City to celebrate the Fourth of July, and in the course of his celebration imbibed quite freely of liquor. So far as learned up to this time the last person who saw him before his death was a young man named Ruhnke, employed on the steamer Percy Swain, a son of Mr. Ruhnke, employed as engineer at the E. W. Williams plant in this city. Ruhnke and he had been out a part of the Fourth in each other's company. About 1 o'clock on the morning of the fifth Ruhnke decided he had celebrated enough and started to go to bed on the steamer Percy Swain. He tried to induce young Robert to go with him, he says, but Robert refused, and left him near where his body was afterwards found.

The testimony of three persons has been obtained to the effect that at 6 o'clock on the morning of the fifth the body of Michael Robert was not in the skiff beside the Burlington tracks where it was found a little later. These three persons are men who had occasion to walk along the Burlington track about 6 o'clock in the morning of the fifth and all aver there was no body there at that time. The three men are John Joachim, Paul Fugina and Walter Domach. The body was first seen by Wm. Murr, who passed along the track at 6:50 on the morning of the fifth, so that the body either fell into or was placed in the skiff some time during the fifty minutes 6 and 6:50. How, is the question not yet satisfactorily answered. There was a special passenger train which passed through Fountain City at 6:20 on the Burlington road, and it is thought at Fountain City he may have been struck by the train and thrown off the track into the boat.

Coroner Steinbach does not agree with this theory. Under this the swollen condition of the hands of the dead man are explained on the supposition that the swelling was caused by the explosion of some large firecrackers. Dr. Steinbach says that men who were with Robert on the Fourth said he had only small firecrackers. Dr. Steinbach is inclined to believe that Robert was forced off the top of a freight car, and that in this ejection his hands were pounded. But if this was the case it does not appear why his body was not seen by persons walking along the track at 6 o'clock on the morning of the fifth. Dr. Steinbach says further the body could hardly have fallen from the position in which it was found as the skiff was too far away from the track. It was moored to a landing a little way out and only the rear of the boat was near the track. When Robert was found he was lying face downward across near the middle of the skiff, his head hanging over on one side and his legs on the other. Dr. Steinbach maintains he must have been carried to the skiff.

Another curious thing in connection with the finding of the body is that while the body was found to the south of the railway track a new derby hat the young man had been wearing and a beer bottle were seen on the north side of the track. The hat and bottle were observed by the son of Mr. Ruffert, proprietor of the Palm Garden, and he went in to inform his father. When they came out to get the hat it was gone, although the beer bottle was still there.

It seems that the further the investigation proceeds the deeper the mystery grows. It is hoped that something may soon develop which will throw clear light on the subject. District Attorney Fugina of Fountain City is still of the opinion that Robert met his injuries by being hit by a train, and that he could not agree with the theories advanced by Coroner Steinbach. He said that Dr. Reinhardt of Fountain City, who examined the man before he died, was of the opinion that the right leg had been broken above the knee, and Mr. Fugina himself noticed a bruise at the knee. There was also a bruise across one eye and under the ribs, he maintains, and the Fountain City doctor held death to be due to hemorrhage of the lungs produced by this bruise on the ribs. The doctor's chief concern when he was called was to restore circulation, the man not then being dead, and he did not pay such particular attention to the leg, but these injuries were such as might

LEGISLATURE MAY NOT END THIS WEEK

INSURANCE FIGHT LIKELY TO PROLONG THE SESSION

SPEAKER EKERN IS OBDDURATE

While Other Odds and Ends Remain, Fight for Real Insurance Laws Is Axis

MADISON, Wis., July 9.—(Special.)—After viewing the work still uncompleted in the legislature last night many of the members were of the opinion that the session could not be closed this week. Even the governor thinks the session may have to be prolonged into next week as a large number of bills are still in the enrolling room which should have been reported to the governor a week ago. An effort is being made to rush legislative matters, however, and over 50 measures were sent to the governor for consideration yesterday.

Most of the work before the assembly today was the passing upon amendments to measures sent back from the senate. There were over 100 on the calendar when the speaker called the assembly to order this morning.

Trouble With Insurance Measure

The insurance measure promise to cause no end of trouble. But few have been passed and by far the more important ones are now before the senate. As these measures are of the utmost importance nearly all of the senators were compelled to return.

Probably the most important of the bills is the one for the taxation of life insurance companies. The Northwestern Life Insurance company of Milwaukee is making the main objections, claiming that only one-tenth of its policies are held by people in this state and they should not be compelled to pay on the other nine-tenths. Speaker Ekern is of the opinion that under the present system of retaliatory laws, if this money were not collected in this manner it would naturally go into the treasury of some other state.

Under the system of charging a $300 license fee to foreign incorporations he believes that a system of taxing the reserve of the Northwestern should be permitted. Deputy Insurance Commissioner Waite is of the opinion that the entire system of taxing insurance companies should be charged and every company should be taxed according to the number of policies in force in the state.

Speaker Ekern maintains that the measures should be passed as recommended by the insurance investigating committee which examined the companies last summer. This will only bring more delay.

Cannot Adjourn Saturday. Besides the insurance bills there are many odds and ends in legislation which must be gathered up and upon the whole there is every indication that an adjournment cannot be effected by Saturday.

CHALLENGE

at least five minutes was caused, permitting the Winona Chief of Record to get such a lead it was impossible for the Skip to recover the distance in the short course run. Had the race been a mile longer Mr. Gleason says he could have beaten the Chief of Record, notwithstanding the five minutes' delay.

Mr. Gleason is so confident of the superiority of his boat that he offers an open challenge to the Chief of Record or any other aspirants and says there will be plenty of money to back the supremacy of the Red Wing flyer.

The Red Wing boat is attracting much attention in this vicinity. It is easily twice as fast as anything now on the river here and leaves the former speedy craft far astern. The exhaust of the "Skip" is so precise and rapid it is a continuous buzz and the working of the engine seems perfect. The Skip is equipped with three four horsepower cylinders, and each cylinder exhausts separately. The boat is thirty-two feet long and is of very light construction and has only four feet beam. Her lines are of speedy design, and instead of pushing up a lot of water, the bow wave is low and streaks back past the hull with very little resistance.

A large number of local enthusiasts have enjoyed a fast ride in the Skip and it is probable there will be others like her here next season.

SWENNES DAMAGE SUIT POSTPONED

The case of O. B. Orton against Olaf Swennes, a suit for damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by assault, was continued one week in Judge C. W. Hunt's court this morning. Mr. Swennes was acquitted of assault in county court recently. This action was brought at the same time.

be caused by being hit by a train. As to the injuries to the hand Mr. Fugina says evidence has been secured of where Robert purchased salutes at a Fountain City store, and further evidence of his lighting these salutes and holding them in his hands. Mr. Fugina says the Fountain City authorities are of the opinion there was no foul play whatever in the matter.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the miserable disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, Catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung affections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is therefore the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all germs, taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again, and posterity is started out in life with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S. while thorough, is gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable ingredients which compose it build up every part of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice free. Attention has from time to time been directed to the picture post card industry, which still continues on the increase. In La Crosse there is more of a demand for these post cards at the present time than ever before.

The following story of how picture post cards originated has recently been printed.

Originated in France.
Not many years ago a French dealer in stationery conceived the idea of printing on post cards a picture of a famous regiment of soldiers. Little dreaming of the possibilities of the industry he was thus fathering, his cards sold rapidly and other men quick to see the selling possibilities of the feature, took the matter up.

Germany especially went in for souvenir post cards heavily and even today a considerable quantity of the cards sold in this country are printed in the land of the kaiser.

German makers of postals have achieved fame in the industry, and their work evidences a high degree of advancement. Many stationery dealers of Puget Sound send local visitors to Germany with orders for their production on postals for local sale.

A Good Investment.
The handling of souvenir postals offers one of the best opportunities of the day for the live mail order dealer and is especially attractive to the beginner or the man with limited capital, as the presentable stock of this commodity can be carried with but small investment, and the possibilities for increasing both the variety of the views as well as the sales are beyond calculation.

It is ten years since the Germans took hold of the idea in earnest. Since then, the craze, if such it may be termed, has spread to all countries, and the trade in souvenir postals has assumed enormous proportions.

In one day during the height of the season at Coney Island last summer no less than 200,000 were mailed. During the year 1906 something like 210,000,000 were mailed in Germany.

Collecting Becomes a Craze
Like the stamp collector and the curio collector, the souvenir postal card collector is now very much in evidence. Individuals and clubs all over the country are searching diligently for new and interesting cards to add to their collections, and one will soon hear of large sums involved in such. Because of their popularity and the unlikelihood of any wave of interest, the business of mailing and selling the souvenirs offers many attractions both to stationers and mail order dealers. Judging from the amount of advertising indulged in by dealers, the business must certainly pay. One man has issued a neat catalogue of forty pages descriptive of its goods, while many others issue smaller ones.

They Always Please
The ease with which the souvenir cards can be handled is a factor in the mail order handling of these goods. They can be mailed as printed matter (when sold in quantities) and their packing is extremely simple and easy. Selling at 1 to 10 cents each a profit of 50 to 100 per cent can be made. Tourists and travelers especially are good customers for the cards, and many are used in an easy way to get out of writing a letter.

If the souvenir is a good one the recipient is sure to be pleased, and the little cards thus gain many friends wherever they go.

OVERESTIMATE LOSS
COFFER DAMS WERE NOT ALL RUINED

Only Portion Wiped Out by Flood Says Boynton

The loss to the La Crosse Water Power company's plant and equipment at Hatfield is not nearly as serious as first reports showed, according to a statement made by E. G. Boynton, president of the company.

An incomplete portion of the coffer dam yielded to the flood and was swept down stream by the torrent, but most of the other work stood the test and was not badly damaged.

The rainfall amounted to about four and a half inches and the water came down the river in a way that night watchman at the place succeeded in getting to a place of safety from his position in the center of the dam. The camps of the men, fortunately, were located about fifty feet above the level of the river, otherwise there might have been a great loss of life.

According to Mr. Boynton the officers of the company do not anticipate any great delay in the work as a result of the flood. The contractors seem willing to take up the work with renewed effort and in all probability the work will be completed by February 1.

Charles Mueller, formerly of this city, and now of Carpio, N. D., is visiting his parents and friends in La Crosse for a few weeks. Mr. Mueller left La Crosse about five years ago and took up a claim at Carpio, N. D. Since then he has become the owner of a large farm. He reports that the west is a fine country and the crops are doing well. Since leaving La Crosse Mr. Mueller has married.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

MINNESOTA CROPS ARE GROWING WELL

GOOD WEATHER AND MOISTURE MAKE THINGS HUM

EARLY SPRING LOSS OFFSET

Dakota Wheat is Heading Out in Promising Way—Winter Rye Does Well in Minnesota

ALBERT LEA, Minn., July 9.—Crops of all kinds never grew more rapidly than they have in Freeborn county the past week or ten days, and they are rapidly taking the form of maturity. All kinds of grain are heading out, and barley will be in harvest in a fortnight if the weather continues warm and dry. Wheat and oats are very heavy and bid fair to be immense crops if the weather is favorable. Corn is on the boom and a few more hot days will see it about as large as it usually is at this season of the year, although it was very much behind. The stand is reported better than expected, and, with a good fall, the crop will be an immense one. Haying has been commenced and the crop will average up with other years, although there are some pieces on high land that suffered for rain in the early spring. Potatoes are making rapid growth and indicate a big yield. Pastures are fine, but mosquitoes are very thick and bother stock greatly. Fruit of all kinds will be abundant, and home-grown strawberries are very plentiful on the market. All in all the prospects for farmers were never better in this community than at the present time.

Wheat is Heading
MILLER, S. D., July 9.—Wheat is heading out, though a little shorter than formerly. Judge Carroll, who has 500 acres believes it has a chance with favorable weather to yield as well as it did last year, which was extra good. He also has 150 acres of corn which he thinks may yet do well. The hay crop never was as good as it is now. Other crops besides those above mentioned are looking well.

Winter Rye Prospers
FERGUS FALLS, Minn., July 9.—Crops in this locality have been making fairly good progress during the past two weeks, but farmers in the more sandy localities are beginning to clamor loudly for rain. There have been occasional showers covering limited areas, but no general rains since the middle of June. On the heavier soils growth has been rapid, and the more advanced wheat and oats are almost ready to head out. Winter rye, which is raised here to some extent, is the prettiest crop in the county. It is fully headed out and gives promise of a fine yield.

One of the home coming visitors at Madison is James Madison Stoner, the first male child born in the territory now included in the capital city. Stoner is a resident of Denver.

IOWA CORN CROP SHORTAGE IS LARGE

REPORT SHOWS PRODUCT WILL BE 83,000,000 SHY

VERY MUCH CONCERN IS FELT

Detailed Reports From All Portions of State Bear Out Summary of a Remarkable Crop Shrinkage

WEBSTER CITY, Ia., July 9.—Announcement of a shortage of 83,000,000 bushels in the Iowa corn crop has created a big sensation in grain circles in this state. The report is made by George A. Wells, secretary of the Iowa Grain Dealers' association, and it is the first authoritative estimate of the year as to what Iowa fields will yield.

Mr. Wells places the corn crop to total 305,065,941 bushels, as against 388,348,929 bushels, the total of last year. As if that weren't bad enough Secretary Wells claims that the corn crop will be 39,000,000 bushels less than it would have been if conditions had been favorable from June 1.

"The estimate which I have made is based upon the supposition that the crop from now on will be as favorable for corn as it was from July 1 to the end of the season last year," says Mr. Wells.

But although every crop output this season will be less than the magnificent Iowa yields all along the line last year, Mr. Wells shows in his reports that with the exception of corn and spring wheat, all of the crops are in better condition today than they were the first of June. Winter wheat, especially, is picking up and the outlook now is that it will be only 9,000 bushels short of last year.

Oats, rye, barley and flax are making decided gains. If they have any chance with the weather man at all, they will make an average crop, even at this late day.

Secretary Wells' reports are gathered in from an experienced set of reporters all over the state. Their reports show that the much heralded green bug has done little damage in Iowa, despite the claims of speculators.

In the southeastern section of the state in the counties of Keokuk, Washington, Louisa, Wapello, Jefferson, Henry, Des Moines, Davis, Van Buren and Lee, the reports show that the oats have been damaged 15 per cent by this pest. There were also slight indications of green bugs in the central portions of the state, but the damage was infinitesimal. The damage experienced in the central division was from hail. As a whole, the reports show that the early low temperature all over Iowa is largely responsible for the damage thus far noted in the backwardness of the crops.

A man could afford a lot more necessities if his family couldn't afford so many luxuries.

BUILD GOOD ROADS WITHOUT MONEY

BROOKINGS, S. D., July 9.—D. Ward King, of Maitland, Mo., gave a talk on "Building and Maintaining Good Roads Without Money," in this city Saturday afternoon, before a large number of representative property holders of Brookings county. There were farmers present who had driven a distance of fourteen and sixteen miles to hear what the inventor of the famous King split log drag had to say. Mr. King sustained his reputation as an authority on road building and satisfactorily answered many perplexing questions. On account of a series of wet seasons the usually fair roads in this county are at present in bad condition and the lecture was very opportune and inasmuch as fourteen of those present from the country pledged themselves to construct a drag each, and to keep the roads along their farms in good condition this will form a nucleus for better roads from this on.

BOY KILLS GIRL, CROPS ARE LOST

SIoux CITY, Ia., July 9.—When the news spread that lightning at 4 o'clock in the morning had struck and burned to the ground the large barn of M. F. Brink, near Ponca, Neb., and at 6 o'clock struck and burned his large chicken house, superstitious persons began to say it was a manifest action of the wrath of the Almighty. Brink's son has just returned home from the asylum, where he was sent instead of to the gallows, for murdering his sweetheart last February. His release after three months' nominal confinement has not met with popular favor.

PRIESTS' RETREAT AT PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

All the priests of the La Crosse diocese will hold a retreat at the Jesuit college at Prairie du Chien this week and the next. The services this week will be for the English speaking priests and those of next week for the German speaking priests.

The delegation which left La Crosse Monday was headed by Bishop Schwebach. A retreat is practically a revival service for the clergy and is held with the hope of awakening the members to greater zeal and piety.

STATE GETS DEAD MAN'S PROPERTY

All of the personal property belonging to Edward Murray, the man killed by a fall from a moving train just this side of West Salem will be turned over to the county treasurer. It amounted in all to about $3, $4 in silver and a watch estimated to be worth about $2. Nothing can be found here that would lead to the whereabouts of Murray's family. He was evidently a traveling workman while in the vicinity of La Crosse and was employed by Captain Thompson for the government.

ADMITS MURDER AND FEARS LYNCH LAW

SIoux CITY, Iowa, July 9.—Fearing trouble from the populace, which has threatened to lynch him, Loris

P. Higgins, the self-confessed murderer of Mr. and Mrs. Copple, of Rosalie, Neb., whose bodies he threw to the hogs, was brought to Pender this morning in a baggage car from Omaha, spirited to Justice Downs' office, bound over and driven out of town hurriedly. He waived the reading of the complaint and admitted everything, wishing only for the court to hurry up. He was out of town when the people learned he had been there.

NORTHWEST BRIEFS

CASS LAKE, Minn.—Victor Golda, aged 29, a popular young man of this town, died here Saturday afternoon from injuries received on July 4. Golda belongs to the fire team which took part in the celebration. While the firemen were out with the apparatus an alarm was turned in and Mr. Golda, losing his footing, was run over and his leg broken above the knee. While the injuries were known to be serious, they were not thought to be fatal, and death came as a shock to all. He leaves a wife and three small children.

MINOT, S. D.—Thorald Elson, of Ryder, is in the hospital in this city probably fatally shot as the result of a fight with Peter Mounts, also of Ryder. Mounts claims to have shot in self defense, and gave himself up to the authorities.

ARLINGTON, S. D.—Elmer Myrand, living three miles south of Bruce, was knocked off a hay rake he was driving by a stroke of lightning. Part of one foot was torn off and he was stunned by the shock. The horses were instantly killed and part of the machine was fused. The bolt seemed to come from a perfectly clear sky.

MOUND, Minn.—State Entomologist Washburn states today that Mr. Webster, worker in his department, reports having just found the genuine southern grain plant louse, teaxera in fields, at Hastings and elsewhere. Mr. Washburn does not believe that any serious injury to Minnesota wheat will result from the comparatively few individuals of teaxera found there.

NORTH SIDE RUNAWAY CAREFUL WITH LOAD OF EGGS

J. H. HOLLEY'S TEAM SCARED BY STREET CAR

WAGON IS BADLY DAMAGED

But Only a Few Dozen of a Large Load of Hen Fruit Were Broken in the Wild Dash

J. H. Holley of the produce company, successor to the J. D. Bickel company, had a runaway this morning.

His team was stationed in front of the Bergquist meat market on Sill street, when they became frightened at a street car and ran along Sill to Charles where they turned and ran north.

The harness was broken, the whistle tree gave way and the tongue was allowed to burrow into the ground.

Mr. Holley was not in the wagon at the time or he may have been seriously injured.

The horses were caught at the next corner. Their hind legs were badly scratched, but they were otherwise uninjured.

Mr. Holley had a large number of eggs on the wagon but only a few dozen were broken.

The wagon was taken to the Rognessack blacksmith shop on George street for repairs.

BURNS HIS CLOTHES

CABOOSE BLAZE IS DESTRUCTIVE ONE

Box Car Is Entirely Consumed in "Q" Yards

About 4:30 this morning fire was discovered in the way car and caboose of Conductor Horner in the upper yards at Grand Crossing. The car was almost entirely consumed. The fire is supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion. Company No. 4 responded, but the fire was almost out of their reach. Mr. Horner lost some clothes and other valuable articles.

KILLED NEAR BUTTE

FLOYD SCHOFIELD RAILROAD VICTIM

News Received of Death of Old La Crosse Man

News reached old fellow trainmen here today to the effect that Floyd Schofield, formerly an extra conductor on the southern Minnesota division of the Milwaukee road had been killed in a smashup at Butte, Mont.

No particulars as to the details of his death could be learned. He will no doubt be brought to his home at Austin, Minn., for interment.

His brother, Frank, who was also employed on the Milwaukee road here for some time was killed out west about a year ago.

HITS AT LOW BALL; DISLOCATES ARM

"Curly" M. Fredrickson, foreman of the telephone department of the Vote-Berger company, threw his arm out of joint this noon while playing ball near the plant of Sumner street.

The injury caused him excruciating pain. Alex Kerr assisted him to the south side where he was taken to the office of Dr. Egan who set the dislocation.

Mr. Fredrickson was formerly manager of the Vought-Berger base ball team.

He was about to bat at a low ball and stooped forward to reach for it when his arm was thrown from the socket.

He knocked the arm out last winter while skating near the plant when he fell on the ice and it has been dislocated once since.

"Pleasant and Enjoyable"

It is (in the hot summer months) to spend a few weeks where the ocean breezes blow, particularly if the regular comforts and necessities of civilized life, including a really good malt and hop beer like are to be had. This famous beer, brewed with sterling honesty, foams with life, sparkles with strength and the very taste of it is a pure delight. Every bottle is warranted to stand any climate, being fully aged and mature. Its aromatic tang and delicious mellow fragrance makes "Peerless" peculiarly grateful in hot weather. "Peerless" does not create thirst but quenches it, because it is brewed by the "Gund Natural Process" from the best hops and barley in the world. It satisfies and pleases, stimulates the gastric juices, and doctors declare that it is not only "a ripping good medicine" for those who are weak and run down, but is also of substantial food value when solid foods are inadvisable. It contains but 3 1/2% of alcohol (which aids digestion) and is thus really a temperance beverage. For 50 years it has surpassed all its competitors and represents in the most literal sense "the survival of the fittest." Bottled at La Crosse only. Sold everywhere by reputable dealers. The home and family trade a specialty. Try a case delivered—a case of "Peerless"—"the beer that makes you glad." Always the same—good and pure. Write or phone or call if you want for your home the best bottled beer that is to be had.
